The year 1992 witnessed India opening up its doors to foreign investments and ushering in liberalization of the economy. Understanding the significance of this landmark event, Symbiosis Institute of International Business (SIIB) was setup to prepare managers and leaders for a growing India, in a growing world. With a pilot course of MBA in International Business (1992), the institute has continued the trend of keeping itself at par with the demands of the business world and this led to the introduction of MBA in Agri Business (2004) and MBA in Energy & Environment (2009). Learning at SIIB is imparted through guest lectures, industry and port visits, live projects, specialized workshops conducted by industry professionals in addition to classroom studies. Students of MBA in International Business can specialize in one of the following - Marketing, Finance,
Supply Chain Management and Human Resource, depending on their aptitude and career choice. All specializations focus on domestic as well as international management practices. The students of all these courses participate in an 8-week long summer project at a company in a sector of their choice to bridge the gap between learning and application. In addition to this, SIIB has a number of student exchange programs that aim at providing the students with an opportunity to gain a global perspective, under the lens of the management. Supply Chain Management at SIIB is a multidisciplinary program developed to equip the students with tools to conceive innovative strategies in Supply Chain and Operations Management. The course is fantastically supported by simulations like the Beer Game, Six Sigma training and a student driven SCM event called “Aarohan”.

At SIIB, students learn both the theory and practical implications of a subject by solving case studies as part of the course. In the third semester, the students are acquainted with the corporate environment through their summer internship and from the lectures rendered by the visiting faculties with years of relevant industrial experience. The students voluntarily undergo certifications like SCM - EXE provided by CII and CSCP, CPIM, etc. awarded by APICS.

Outside the classroom, students sharpen their management skills by participating in In-house and Inter-College management competitions. The flagship event of SHE, Ignisense has an exclusive event ‘OPIUM’, addressing Supply Chain Management, Where management students from all over India compete to claim the best Operations Manager title.
